Bob has special expertise in the development, leasing and management of new projects. He has been instrumental in securing many major office and retail tenants for Downtown Spokane, including Eastern Washington University and Washington State University. He has been heavily involved in the development of the skywalk system, especially the skywalks to the east and south of the Washington Mutual Financial Center. He has been involved in the development, leasing, and management of many new projects located in and near Downtown Spokane, including the Spokane Heart Institute, the Deaconess Medical Building, the Holy Family Medical Building, the Washington Mutual Financial Center, the Freeway Plaza Building, and the renovation of the Sherwood, Flour Mill, Paulsen Building, and River Park Square. He was instrumental in returning the ownership of the Frederick and Nelson Buildings to local Spokane ownership. Bob also serves as a consultant to governmental, financial and corporate clients.
